INTRODUCTION.

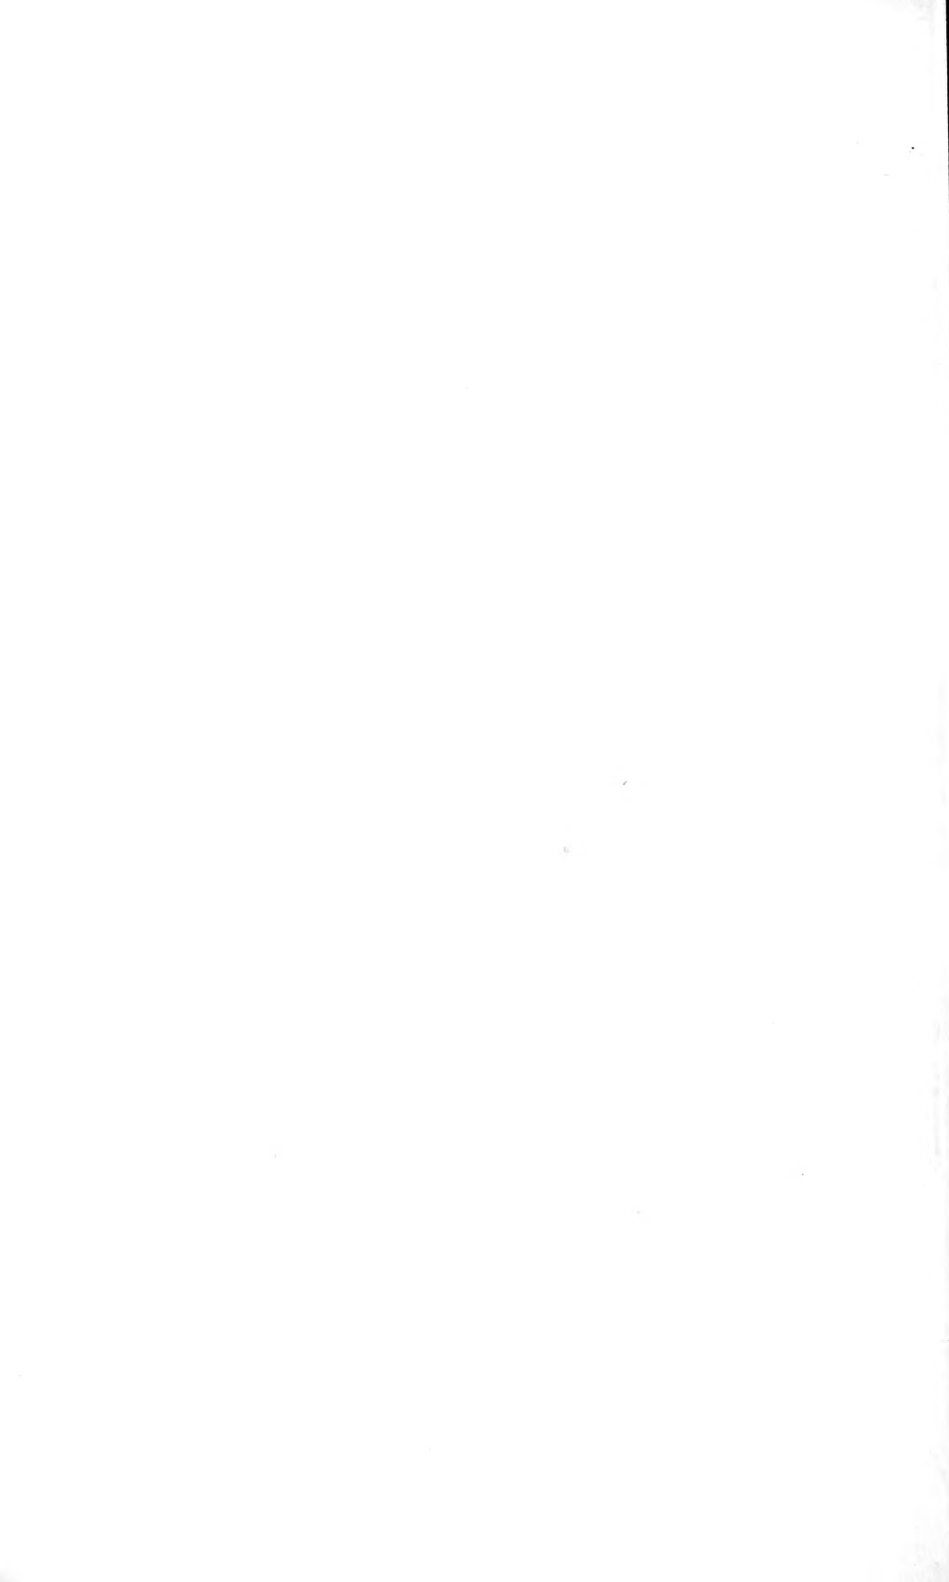

In the introduction to the catalogue issued in June, 1902, it was explained that during the time which had elapsed between sending the first sheets to the press and the publication of the volume, there had been many additions to the Library, and that consequently a supplement would in due course be issued containing the books which had been added. In view of the fact that the contents of the catalogue were arranged under the names of the authors, a subject index was to be compiled, and this was to be included in the supplement. Various circumstances have combined to delay the publication of this supplement, more especially the difficulty of preparing the subject index within the time, and although the greater portion of the latter work has been completed, it was thought advisable not to delay further the publication of the supplement, but to issue the subject index separately as soon as circumstances permitted of its completion. In order that the supplement may bring the catalogue as much up to date as possible, an appendix has been added, consisting of those books which have been added to the library while the supplement has been passing through the press.

Attention should be called again to the fact that the Council's library consists of all books belonging to the Council and shelved not only in the library and rooms connected therewith, but also in the committee rooms, the rooms set apart for the chairman, the vice-chairman, the deputy-chairman, and the officers' rooms at the County Hall or attached to the County Hall. These latter, which are included in the catalogue, although primarily for the use of the department in which they are located, are always held available for other use as occasion demands, and when they have fulfilled the immediate purpose for which they are supplied, and are no longer in constant use in that particular department, they are removed to the library.

It should be mentioned that in this, as in the preceding volume, the numerous books contained in that part of the Council's library which is located in the Education offices, have not been included. A separate catalogue of these books was issued by the School Board for London in 1901, and the Committee have it under consideration how to deal with this part of the Council's library.
